

CALL FOR PAPERS

55TH ANNUAL MONETARY STUDIES CONFERENCE 6th - 8th November, 2024 Barbados

The Caribbean Economic Research Team (CERT) is pleased to announce that the 55th Annual Monetary Studies Conference (AMSC) will be held from Wednesday 6th November to Friday 8th November, 2024. This year's conference, Macroeconomic Management in an Era of Polycrisis, will be hosted by the Central Bank of Barbados. The Conference will be held in a hybrid format, allowing for both face-to-face and virtual participation.

This year we aim to bring policymakers, researchers and practitioners together to discuss pertinent issues relating to the management of economic systems in an era increasingly characterised by contemporaneous multiple interlinked global crises.

We welcome submission of completed papers or extended abstracts that explore pertinent topics, aiming to promote understanding and discourse on economic management in a polycrisis world. These topics include, but are not limited to:

- Caribbean economic adjustment and de-globalisation.
- Financial development and financial stability.
- Adjusting to climate change.
- Digital innovations and transformation. ➤ Regional integration and governance.

SUBMISSIONS: Please submit your paper or extended abstract to certhost@centralbank.org.bb and CERTAdmin@central-bank.org.tt by the submission deadline, 16th August, 2024. Early submissions are highly encouraged and preference will be given to those submissions that are related to the conference's theme and topics. Accepted authors will be notified by 20th August, 2024 and will be required to register for the conference and submit a final electronic copy (PDF format) of their paper by 15th October, 2024.

We look forward to your participation and anticipate a successful conference in November. Please feel free to share the Call for Papers with colleagues and those in your network who might be interested. For additional details, contact the AMSC Secretariat at certhost@centralbank.org.bb.
